Sandra Levitin is the Founder/CEO/Editor of Kalon Women, an online magazine for women forty plus. Her first book, "Learning How to Hop Again" is due to be released in 2010.

Sandra's experience and leadership capabilities for the past 30 years led her to be a top sales trainer for several national and international companies. As a top leader in her field, she moved companies into guiding their training efforts toward the topics of: Developing a Success Blueprint ▪ Creating a Personal Brand ▪ Evaluating "First Impressions" ▪ The Art of Selling ▪ How to Convey Who You Are and What You Do.

After making a tough decision, Sandra decided to leave the corporate environment at 50 and fulfill a 15 year dream that started with a friend who died from breast cancer before they could see it through together. Kalon Women launched in November 2008.
